FLAGSTAFF, ARIZONA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1920.

NUMBER 45.

ARMY PLANE COMING HERE IN FEW DAYS

J. J. Byrnes, of Los Angeles, assistant traffic passenger manager of the Santa Fe, and Tom Stahl, local agent for the Santa Fe, and all-around booster for Flagstaff, have just about completed arrangements for the landing here, within a few days, probably some time next week, of a big army airplane which is being sent here by one of the Los Angeles newspapers for the purpose of taking pictures from the air of various scenic points in northern Arizona, including Grand Canyon.

Mr. Stahl does not know which of the Los Angeles newspapers is pulling the stunt. But there has been considerable correspondence between him and Mr. Byrnes. At first, the problem of finding a suitable landing field seemed difficult. Dead Man's flat was visited, and while it is in other ways ideal for such a purpose, it would require too much work in clearing off the sage and other vegetation. At another place, southeast of town, there was too much danger of water standing in case of heavy rains. Finally the problem was solved most suitably by an offer from T. E. Pollock of the use of the oat field on the Pollock ranch just outside of town. The grain will be cut in time and if there is any rolling or dragging needed it will be done.

It is often asserted that airplanes cannot fly over Grand Canyon without disaster, owing to the terrific air currents and "holes" in the air. It is likely that this theory will be fully tested out within a few days and either verified or exploded, as it is the avowed purpose of the newspaper behind the enterprise to get a series of air pictures taken from directly above the big ditch.

Kingman's landing field has been in readiness for the air visitor for several weeks.

OF COURSE, LEAN MEN ARE BETTER THAN FAT

Certain lank and lean members of the Boosters' club, to accomplish a three-fold object, have conceived a scheme that should be of interest to every true Flagstaffite and true sport. These lean and lanky guys propose to have a baseball game, between the leans and the fats. The proceeds are to go to the Boosters' club, that worthy organization which has done so much and is continuing to work for the growth and development of our city. Thus stands revealed one of the objects above alluded to as the motive for the game.

The second object is the gratification of our baseball fans. These lank and leanies love baseball. They know we all love baseball. They believe a game between men we all know, the opposing teams with strongly marked physical differences, this difference and the resultant capers and antics adding a touch of fun, will arouse general and genuine interest, enthusiasm and rivalry.

The third object of the lean and lankies is to show to their wives their physical superiority over these fat stuffs.

Only married men will be eligible to play on either team. Each team shall go into the field with at least five reserve players. Each player, it is proposed, shall be at least 30 years old and shall not have played baseball in any match game within the last three years.

Some of the leans are Tom Stahl, George Harben, Walter Lindblom, Tom Rees, Wid Raudebaugh, Gus Jakle, W. A. Campbell, Billy Switzer, Woebert Smith, Fred Lusk, Mike Riordan, Chet Black, Dr. Franks, W. B. Goble, Ernest Lennon, C. C. Schwarz, Hugh and Jim Tillman, Joe Schmidt, Sid Gassman, A. J. Sullivan, Jack Costigan, G. F. Manning, Sr., Dr. Felix Manning, George Herrington, Prof. J. F. Walker, Joe Waldrhaug, Fred Garling, Prof. O. H. Richardson, J. C. Brown.

Practically all of the above have signified their willingness—nay eagerness—to play, and assert that they can everlastingly trim any team the fats can get together.

Among the fats, a great many of whom are already eager for the fray (and the rest doubtless will be when they read this) are Paul Coffin, John Weatherford, Boss Acker, John Clark, Charlie Lehr, Pat Moran, K. J. Nacker, Tim Riordan, Milt Powers, Jack Harrington, Dan Francis, Hugh Campbell, Tom Pollock, John McWilliams, C. B. Wilson, Wm. H. Campbell, Jack Kester, Hank Lockett, D. W. Jeffery, Loren Cress, P. Falder, Alf Dickinson, Tom Rickel, Frank Brooks, M. E. Tackitt, R. G. Stevenson, Charlie Woolfolk, Lou Charlebois, Dr. V. M. Slipper, Jesse Clark.

Understand, no man is eligible on the lean team unless he's lean; nor on the fat team unless he's in the heavy-weight class.

Further particulars soon.

The Boosters met yesterday noon at A. K. Kelemen's, 302 East Aspen, and had an unusually good lunch. They talked mostly about the above proposed game.

NOMINATE THESE MEN, REPUBLICANS

Voters interested in the success of the republican ticket are requested to write in the name of JAMES DUNSEETH, on the blank line as the candidate for congress. You will make no mistake in assisting in his nomination.

For the house of representatives, write in the name of

F. W. PERKINS, who has consented to accept the nomination if it is given him. There is a blank space to write in the names of both candidates and it is generally conceded that the nomination of both these men will be of material help to the party.

SCHOOLS OPEN TUESDAY; MANY NEW TEACHERS

Our public schools open next Tuesday. A full roster of teachers has been secured. The Emerson school building has been remodeled to make room for the classes and the whole building has been thoroughly cleaned and put in shape. One of the most noteworthy improvements noted is the new library, a large, light, airy room which has been built at ridiculously little expense on the east side of the building, between the two wings by simply building a wall on one side and a roof. This room will also be used by the superintendent, Prof. O. H. Richardson, as his office and as a meeting room for the teachers.

Following are the teachers. In many cases they are new, and in such cases the names of the state or town they came from is given:

Prof. O. H. Richardson, superintendent.

Mrs. Bertha S. Kennedy, principal. J. P. McVey, manual training and athletics, Greeley, Colo.

Miss Lydia M. Akin, domestic science and art.

Miss Katherine Kennedy, commercial work.

Miss Clara A. M. Davis, music, New York.

Miss Agnes H. Hoyt, history, Indiana.

Miss Rosemary Reinhold, Spanish, mathematics and physical training.

Miss Isabelle Houghton, mathematics and science, South Dakota.

Miss La Greta Lowman, English, Indiana.

Miss Dessel M. Carlson, drawing, Minnesota.

Miss Flora Jensen, third grade and penmanship.

Miss Mary J. Leedom, sixth grade.

Miss Lura Kinsey, fifth grade.

Miss Florence Pancake, fourth grade, Loveland, Colo.

Miss Kathaleen Anderson, second grade.

Miss Anna Roepke, second and third grade, Morenci, Ariz.

Miss Mabel H. Milligan, first grade.

Miss Ellen Saunders, first grade, Guernsey, Wyo.

Miss C. Ema Vandervort, first grade.

Miss Mary Watkins, first grade, Glendale, Ariz.

Mrs. Anne L. Noble, kindergarten.

Miss Frieda Johnson, school nurse.

CHISHOLM OPENS OFFICE IN WILLIAMS

County Farm Agent Francis A. Chisholm visited Williams on Tuesday and made arrangements to spend two days—Tuesday and Wednesday—of each week there hereafter. He will be headquartered when in Williams at Justice of the Peace Button's office. This move of Mr. Chisholm's will be a great convenience to the many farmers in the Williams section, many of whom wish his advice, but have often found it inconvenient to come to Flagstaff to see him.

WILL COMMENCE WORK ON ROAD TO PEAKS AT ONCE

J. W. Weatherford has received word that the maps and specifications for the auto road to the top of the San Francisco Peaks were approved by the interior department of the government this week and announces that work will commence on the road immediately.

Nothing would please the people of Flagstaff better than to see this big scenic road completed and ready for travel.

SANTA FE WRECKING CREW BROKE RECORD

The Santa Fe wrecking crew with its train made what was probably the quickest time on record in getting to a wreck that occurred between here and Riordan at four o'clock Wednesday morning. The wrecking train and crew were right there when the accident happened. In fact, it was the wrecking train and crew that was wrecked.

The train was returning to Winslow from out somewhere west of here. On a curve, a couple of the cars skidded, blocking both tracks. No one was hurt. The west-bound track was cleared by noon and the east-bound late in the afternoon, the crew of the wrecker doing their own cleaning up.

PRATT OUT; FOR MISS TOLES AS SCHOOL SUPT.

Linwood S. Pratt has withdrawn his candidacy for the republican nomination for state superintendent of public instruction, according to a telegram received last night by The Sun from the republican state central committee. The withdrawal came in the form of a letter to Andrew Baumert, Jr., secretary of the state central committee, in which Mr. Pratt says that, though it probably will be impossible to have his name taken off the primary ballot, he urges his friends to vote for Miss Toles. He continues:

"The republican party is responsible for woman's suffrage. For forty years or more, the best republican leadership has proclaimed the need of woman's mind and heart and soul in meeting and solving the social and economic problems that changing civilization has been constantly bringing to the front.

"The candidacy of Miss Toles gives the first response in Arizona to this republican demand for a competent woman's service in a high state office. I believe that it is my duty to support that candidacy and not oppose it.

"I wanted a chance to help in the uplift and betterment of rural schools and to get that opportunity I became a candidate for the nomination for state superintendent, but Miss Toles can procure this as well as I, perhaps better. She has ability and vision and tender womanly sympathy. I believe the improvement and aspiration of the rural schools for better things will be safe with her.

"And so I am withdrawing my candidacy. I believe that I can better help the cause of rural schools by supporting her than I can by allowing my own personal ambitions to jangle in the primaries. I do not have to be a general to fight for the cause."

MRS. MELISSA JANE BROOKS DIES SUDDENLY DURING SLEEP

The family of I. M. Jackson were greatly shocked Wednesday morning at finding Mrs. Jackson's grandmother, Mrs. Melissa Jane Brooks, dead in bed. Mrs. Brooks had retired the night previous apparently in her usual health and had cooked the evening meal that evening before retiring. She suffered an attack of influenza last year and had never fully recovered from the effects of the disease, though had not complained of her condition. It is thought her death was caused by a heart attack during the night. To all appearances she had passed peacefully away during her sleep.

Mrs. Brooks was about 68 years of age, a native of Texas, and had made her home in Flagstaff since 1873, with her children, and since the marriage of her granddaughter, to I. M. Jackson, has made her home with them. She was the mother of eight children, six of whom survive her. They are Mrs. Bean and Mrs. Huntley, of Flagstaff; Mrs. R. S. Marley, of Winslow; Charles Brooks, of San Bernardino; John Brooks, of Wilmington, Cal., and Ben Brooks.

The funeral services will be held at the Federated church this morning (Friday) at 10 o'clock.

FINISH THEIR WORK ON CEMETERY ROAD

Work on the new road to the cemetery was finished last Sunday, there being numerous members of the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias lodges out with teams and shovels, and their various wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts providing the usual sumptuous noonday repast. The work of surfacing the new road with gravel is done. A short stretch is left, still unsurfaced, which, it is understood, the city will take care of.

Now these public-spirited citizens propose to get water to the cemetery, set out a lot of trees, fix up the outside fence and make the grounds in very way more convenient and beautiful. They have already effected vast improvements, but do not intend to stop until they can view the cemetery with pride instead of with shame.

DR. O. S. BAUM LEAVES; SUCCESSOR NOT KNOWN

Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Baum left the first of the week for the coast. Dr. Baum resigned the pastorate of the Federated church several weeks ago, his resignation becoming effective the last of this month. He preached his farewell sermon on Sunday night. He will not accept another charge for at least a year, but, with his wife, will spend the next twelve months traveling, though at present they have made no definite plans as to where their travels will take them. Dr. Baum has already seen a large part of the world, having toured Europe and the Orient.

It is likely that Dr. Baum's successor will be sent here by the Methodist conference, which is to be held within a few weeks. The church board have no idea yet who the new man will be. Dr. Baum is a Presbyterian.

Archie Hogan announces in this issue of The Sun that he will move his bakery the very first of next week to its new location, the former Marlar hall, just north of the New White Garage, on North Beaver street. Mr. Hogan has had a new oven built and the place remodeled, has installed a plate glass front, arranged for a display and sales room in the front of the building, and will have one of the most convenient and most sanitary bakeries anywhere in the southwest. Mr. Hogan will increase his force, and with more help and additional room, will not be forced, as frequently in the past, to disappoint customers seeking his bread, cakes and pastries.

DR. RAYMOND WINS HIS DAMAGE SUIT

The jury in the re-trial of the $32,000 damage case of Oscar Nelson vs. Dr. R. O. Raymond, did not take long last night to bring in a verdict favorable to the defendant. They were out from 5 o'clock to 8:30, during which time they had their supper.

The re-trial of the suit began a week ago Wednesday. Some time was taken up in arguments by attorneys. It was claimed by the defense that any damage that might have been sustained by Nelson through inadequate treatment for his dislocated hip by Dr. Raymond in Milton hospital was an element of danger that Nelson's employer, the Flagstaff Lumber Co. was responsible for and had settled for, inasmuch as they had made a settlement of the case with Nelson.

Judge Lockwood, after hearing the arguments, decided to let the case go to the jury. A jury was selected. After some testimony had been taken, defendant's attorneys moved that the judge direct a verdict in their client's favor. Denied. Followed taking of more testimony and then a renewal of the motion.

Finally, on Monday, the judge decided to let the jury decide the case. The taking of testimony was finished yesterday morning. The jury retired late in the afternoon.

Among those who testified were: The plaintiff, the defendant, Arthur Vandewater, Dr. P. Paul Zinn, J. C. Dolan, Ed McGonigle, Miss Lilian Catty, Mrs. Freona Zinn, Miss Gavin, Sarah Archer, Dr. P. G. Cornish, of Albuquerque; James Oakes, Dr. H. G. Southwick, of Prescott; Mrs. Simington.

As during the first trial, the evidence seemed to be overwhelmingly in favor of Dr. Raymond, proving that he not only did not neglect Nelson while the latter was under his care, but that his treatment of Nelson was in accordance with latest scientific methods, and that he had at his own expense called in various other capable, successful physicians to assist him in the treatment of the case.

Attorneys for Nelson were Mercer Hemperley and F. C. Struckmeyer. Dr. Raymond's attorneys were C. B. Wilson, of Flagstaff; Stockton Henderson, of Phoenix, and W. H. Dehn, of Los Angeles. The jurors were: F. C. Spencer, Gavino Tafaya, Chas. Whitfield, John J. McKillip, Rafael Samora, M. A. Black, R. C. Watson, John Juhl, J. T. Moore, Dr. George Rounselle, C. H. Hinds, Ralph Easton.

The jury was kept in the custody of Bailiffs W. A. Campbell and Oscar Dietzman. Though it was a long trial, the men seemed to have a pretty good time of it. They were permitted to attend both ball games on Sunday, and at intervals through the days and in the evenings had a great time playing ball on court house green.

"JUDGE" MILLER VICTIM IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

"Judge" Miller, the big colored wood man, had his right leg badly broken below the knee, Tuesday morning, when his team ran away with him, throwing him out, the front wheel of the wagon passing over his leg.

The accident occurred about three miles out on the Rogers Lake road. Miller crawled a half-mile to Mrs. Huntley's ranch. She took her little baby and started to walk to Flagstaff for a doctor, but had gone only half a mile when she was met by Forest Supervisor E. G. Miller, Quincy Randles, of Albuquerque; C. L. Forsling, of Washington, D. C., and Clement L. Lincoln, all forest service men, who were motoring to the Barney pasture section for a few days' grazing reconnaissance. They took Mrs. Huntley back and brought Miller in to his home, in the east end of town.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT NARROWLY AVERTED

A serious accident was narrowly avoided on the Mt. Elden trail last Saturday when a party of young people were going up to the Forest Service lookout station, on horseback.

A horse ridden by Walter Chambers balked and began to play up. Chambers jumped and the horse fell and rolled into a canyon, making it necessary to build a small bridge to get him out. The party was composed of the Misses Riordans, Walter Chambers and a couple of others.

The horse was eventually landed at the bottom of the trail after help arrived, much bruised up, but not thought permanently injured.

REGISTRATION FIGURES

Miss Irene Bart, county recorder, says that 2,500 voters have registered so far this year. The books are now closed and will be re-opened on September 14th for further registration of those who have failed to register so far but who want to register for the general election in November. The county registration two years ago when the books were closed before the general election was 2,942; so the number registered for the primaries is rather high in comparison with past election years. Flagstaff's registration is 1282, and Williams' only 447, the latter being unusually low.

The camping party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Little and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Witter, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Huff returned the first of the week from a delightful trip to the Grand Canyon and report very cold weather and snow at Flagstaff last week.—Glendale News.

MARK A. MOORE'S BODY WILL SOON BE HOME

Judging from a letter received from Washington by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Moore, the body of their hero son, Mark A. Moore, the first boy from this county to lose his life while in France fighting for his flag, will soon be brought to Flagstaff for burial.

The letter did not explain whether Mark's remains were already in this country, but it is believed that they were brought over recently with many others. The local post of the American Legion, named in honor of this young man, will be in readiness to take charge of the ceremonies attending the burial when the remains arrive here.

THE CAUSE OF LOWER STOCK MARKET IN U. S.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Sept. 1, 1920.

My Dear Mr. Breen:

As I recall it, the cattlemen, at their recent convention in Flagstaff, passed a resolution calling upon the president to place an embargo on the importation of frozen mutton from New Zealand for the protection of the American sheep men. It was stated by Mr. Hagenbarth that this mutton could not be introduced into Canada, which is a part of the same British empire as New Zealand, without paying a duty. It occurs to me that it would be of great interest to the sheep men of this state to be publicly advised of the result of the communication with the president on this matter.

It was recalled to my mind by reading in The Market Reporter, issued by the U. S. department of agriculture under date of August 21st, 1920, the following item:

Lamb—Continuing the downward trend, lamb prices were sharply lowered, with closing prices unevenly $2 to $3 below one week ago at the eastern markets. Chicago weakened after Monday's higher opening prices, and closed in line with the previous Friday. A cargo of approximately 200,000 carcasses of lamb and mutton from New Zealand was unloaded at New York early in the week. Cable advices state that 190,000 additional carcasses of lamb left New Zealand on July 29 due to arrive in New York about September 1.

It would appear that "Cousin George" is continuing to introduce his stringy mutton without let or hindrance from the administration, notwithstanding the SOS call of the cattlemen's convention.

Sincerely,
M. J. RIORDAN.

Mr. F. S. Breen,
Editor, Coconino Sun,
Flagstaff, Arizona.

PROMINENT REPUBLICANS VISITING THE NORTH

Allen B. Jaynes, national committeeman and editor of the Tucson Citizen, accompanied by Mrs. Jaynes and Mrs. James Dunsneath and Albert Sames, chairman of the republican state central committee, were in Flagstaff Wednesday, having autoed in from Winslow. They were meeting prominent republicans in the northern part of the state and preparing for the coming campaign when the primaries are out of the way. Messrs. Jaynes and Sames and Albert Weigel, of the national headquarters, left yesterday for Kingman by train, intending to return tomorrow and continue their overland trip south via. Mormon Lake to Phoenix.

Both gentlemen are very well pleased with the republican outlook over the state and feel certain that the republican party will win many places with the chances good for the state going for Harding and Coolidge.

DIES AT MORMON LAKE

Sylvanus Palmer, a man about 52 years of age, died Wednesday at Mormon Lake, where he had been camping with his family, with an acute attack of indigestion. Medical assistance was called from Flagstaff.

His wife and daughter were with him at the time of his death. The remains were brought to Flagstaff and shipped by the Flagstaff Undertaking Parlor, to Phoenix, Thursday evening.

Mr. Palmer was a linotype operator for the Arizona Republican, where he had worked for a number of years.

The Camp-Fire Girls, Miss Reinhold leader, left for Mormon Lake this morning for several days outing.

ATTENTION WOMEN VOTERS!

Miss Hannah C. Egelston, of Phoenix, who has charge of the organization work for women in the state, for the republicans, will be in Flagstaff today and will be pleased to meet all women who are interested in the success of the republicans this fall.

Miss Egelston will have many things of interest to impart to the women voters and it is earnestly urged that they meet with her during the day or evening.

WE DO GROW; HERE'S PROOF OF THE FACT

There hasn't been a great deal of noise concentrated on the fact, but there's a vast amount of improvement work going on in this city and vicinity this summer, more than during one season in many years past.

First, there's the bithulithic paving of the National Old Trails through the city, a little more than a mile of the kind of street we need and of which we hope to have many more miles in future years. It more than doubles our present paving mileage. The work preliminary to actually laying the paving is being pushed rapidly. The stone crusher is grinding every day and the crushed rock is being hauled to the west end of the work, where the asphalt is being unloaded. The bridge and culvert work along the streets to be paved is under way. The total cost of this improvement will be $75,000.

The road forces working for the state, which has the contract for the $140,000 federal-aid road building to complete the road between here and Williams, are hard at the job. All the really bad parts of this road will be rebuilt this fall. Besides this, appropriations have been made for such road building both west of Williams and east of Flagstaff, the total federal aid work laid out amounting to $300,000. This does not include the Oak Creek cut-off road, work on which will be finished this fall.

The new $100,000 manual training building at the Normal school, which will be finished soon, and the extensive improvements to the grounds at the Normal, in themselves are big items in our development into the future city beautiful.

Gum & Solberg will soon begin pouring concrete for the walls of the new armory building for Battery "A", the building to be 75x200 feet, to contain gymnasium and swimming pool, to

JEROME BASEBALL TEAM GAVE US AWFUL WHALING

Flagstaff Battery "A" lost two uninteresting baseball games to Jerome Sunday. There was nothing left for post mortems in either game; we were licked, that's all.

Manager Charlie Heisser wired Friday night after learning that two of our players had taken French leave, cancelling the games. But the message was not delivered until the next morning, by which time part of the Jerome players were on the road here. So Charlie got busy. He had already wired Howard, at Leupp, not to come in. He wired him again, to come. May had accepted Glendale's offer to pitch Sunday's game for them, but wired that he couldn't go there.

We went into action in the morning game with our regular line-up badly messed and with a resultant lack of pep and fighting spirit. Mays pitched a slightly better game than his opponent, Best, the port-sider who shut us out a few weeks ago, but a series of inexcusable errors in both infield and outfield was too big a handicap. A shift in our line-up and better batting pulled us up some in the scoring, but the game was for only seven innings. Perhaps we would have won in two more innings, perhaps not. The final was 6-3.

In the afternoon, Howard, starting in the box for us, couldn't hold them. Mays was put in; he couldn't hold them. Sellman replaced Howard in the fifth, and the slaughter stopped. The score was then 15 to 1. Flagstaff started a rally then, batting Nettie out of the box. Arsey replaced him, but was no better. The final score, 16 to 11, indicated that in the last part of the game Flagstaff was going strong, Jerome wabbling. But the lead was too big.

Harry Sellman, from Williams, in both games, and McMillan, from Kingman, in the last game, played good enough ball to make our missing men unmissed if all the home members of the team had shown their usual form. But the old never-say-die spirit was gone and the pep, team work and speed; "shot to pieces"—that's the answer.

MISS ELSIE TOLES VISITING NORTHERN VOTERS

Miss Elsie Toles, candidate for the nomination on the republican ticket for the office of state superintendent of schools, arrived in Flagstaff Tuesday on a visit to the voters of this section of the state, in the interest of her candidacy. Miss Toles is not only a very talented young lady, but a charming one as well. She has held the office of county superintendent in Pima county for two terms, having been elected by a good majority each time, though the county is usually very much democratic.

NEW DRUG STORE TO OPEN

James W. Marlar will open a new drug store in the building formerly occupied by the Klim man on Leroux street. This store will be called the "City Drug Store," and will be managed by W. Ross Denman. Mr. Marlar will very soon leave to complete his pharmacy studies, and says he will no doubt go to Iowa to finish.
